A Fewer Gas Experts.

He was an adept in sanitary matters, and was called as an expert witness in a case in Justice Anderson's court.

"What is sewer gas?" asked the attorney for the prosecution.

"It is a vegetable vapor," replied the witness, to the astonishment of several experts present.

The witness could not tell the component parts of "vegetable vapor," and the attorney asked the question.

"What is the effect of sewer gas on a person inhaling it?"

"It causes gastric fever," replied the witness.

A chemist in the corner faints, and Judge Anderson excuses the expert and adjourns court.

That and Tough.

James Laik, a colored man who resides in the neighborhood of Twenty-eighth and Lake streets, had a very narrow escape from death Thursday night, and even now is not entirely out of danger.

Laik was not feeling well and had purchased a quantity of Eison salts to take with him when he had finished some work at Twentieth and Lake streets. For safe keeping he left the package in Timmies' fruit store in the cable line depot.

In the meantime one of the grimeen whose house is infested with rodents, had purchased a package of "rough on rats," which he, too, left in Timmies' place until he should have finished his work. The two bundles were nearly identical in shape, and when Laik called for his salts, the boy in charge gave him the "rough on rats," of which he took a large dose. Shortly afterward he was taken deathly ill and a physician was sent for who examined the package and informed the friends of the sick man of its contents. After a hard night's work the man was pronounced in a fair way to recover, and inquiry being made the mistake was discovered.

UNEASY SEATS.

Are Occupied by Members of the Board of Education.

Rumors are current to the effect that the completion of the board of education is to undergo a decided change shortly by the resignation of several of the members. Matters have not gone smoothly since the organization of the present board, and several of the members feel that they cannot remain on the board, as there is no prospect of the future meetings of the body being marked by any appreciable degree of harmony. The report includes Dr. Saville, Euclid Martin, E. R. McConnell, D. V. Sholes, and S. K. Felton as the members whose resignations will likely be tendered at an early meeting.

Mr. Sholes emphatically denies that he has any intention of leaving the board. Mr. Felton has had the matter under consideration for some time. His business keeps him so much out of the city that he feels he cannot give the business of the board the attention which he feels is due from a member of the body. While he has not definitely decided upon a course of action, it is not at all probable that he will remain much longer a member of the board.

Dr. Saville, it is understood, is arranging his business affairs, to enable him to be absent from the city for several months. He will probably make a trip abroad, in which event he is reported to have decided to resign his position as a member of the board.

When questioned concerning the matter, Mr. McConnell said that he had at one time considered resigning, but had abandoned the idea. The duties of the office were onerous and exacting, and it was simply a measure of good citizenship to insure a man to devote to the details of the work the time so imperatively demanded. The place required a good, honest man, and he would not resign unless he could come pretty near naming his successor.

for park purposes, but the offer has not yet been acted upon. The reason of the delay is the desire of the commission to establish a boulevard to the proposed site.

Mr. Clark showed the route of the drive. The latter is to be a continuation of Sherman avenue from the fair grounds, or rather of Seventeenth street where the thoroughfare is run through the present grounds of the Omaha Driving Park. It will be 200 feet wide in some places and wider at others with porticoes at several points along the line. The drive will skirt the top of the bluffs and over the lowlands east of the city, the winding Missouri and the beautiful country beyond. The length will be about two and one-half miles
